Yanks Stop Bums 6-5 in First Game Of World Series

Two Homers by Joe Collins Win
After a Close Slugging Match,
Nearly Successful Dodger Rally

NEW YORK (AP)—Two home runs by Joe Collins carried the New York Yankees to a 6-5 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers today in the first game of the 54th World Series. A crowd of 63,869 saw a slugging match marked by five homers and a Dodger rally that fell just short of tying the score in the eighth inning.

Collins smashed his second homer of the game with Yogi Berra on base in the sixth inning.

West Big 3 Ignore East German Setup

They Issue Joint Statement at Talks
Held in New York

NEW YORK (AP)—The Western Big Three in a joint statement said today they do not recognize any East German regime—a move apparently intended to keep Berlin accessible to the West.

They said the Soviet Union remains responsible for carrying out obligations previously made with the three powers on Germany and Berlin.

The statement was aimed at agreements reached Sept. 20 by the Soviet Union and East Germany.

The three foreign ministers reaffirmed the view of their governments that "final determination of German frontiers must await a peace settlement for the whole of Germany."

They reaffirmed also their stand that "the Federal Republic of Germany (West Germany) is the only German government freely and legitimately constituted and therefore entitled to speak for Germany as the representative of the German people in international affairs."

The Big Three statement was issued by Secretary of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Macmillan and French Foreign Minister Pinay.

Soon afterward they sat down for their second day of meetings preliminary to a Big Four foreign ministers' conference with Russia starting Oct. 27 at Geneva. Sitting in with them was Heinrich von Brentano, West German foreign minister.

Ike's Team Gains Confidence That He Will Resume Duties

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's administrative team was described today as confident that within 30 days at most the President himself will again be able to guide the nation.

The opinion was based on continued optimistic medical reports on Eisenhower's progress in recovering from a heart attack which struck him last Saturday in Denver.

One presidential aide said that if a matter of transcendental importance should arise immediately, it could be taken to the President even now.

Meanwhile, however, Eisenhower's top aides were reported to be settling down to a 30-day "holding operation."

During this period, the source said, the by-word in the government on major policy matters will be "Leave it where Ike last saw it."

For the time being at least, the problem of how, if at all, essential presidential policy-making powers could be delegated to others, a prime topic in Washington Monday, has been pushed into the background.

Soviet Keeps Silent On Arms Request

NEW YORK (AP)—The Soviet Union kept silent today toward an American-British request that the Communists help in limiting the sale of heavy arms to Egypt and the Middle East.

U.S. Secretary of State Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan broached the issue to Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov at dinner here last night following Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser's announcement that Red Czechoslovakia had agreed to swap such arms for Egyptian rice and cotton.

Six Missouri Cities Have Bond Voting

Most Issues Carry;
Parking Project
Wins In Columbia

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Six Missouri communities held special bond elections yesterday on a variety of improvements ranging from a new sewage system to school improvements; a county lake and park and a new city hall. Gilman School District voters defeated a $210,000 bond proposal for the sixth time. The vote was 503 for the issue to 290 against. A two-thirds majority was necessary for passage.

At Fayette, an $80,000 bond issue for construction of a new sewage system was endorsed by a vote of 266 to 35.

Plans are under way in Chillicothe to improve and expand the municipal power plant following approval of a $1,385,000 bond proposition. The vote was 755 to 97.

By a vote of 1,527 to 663, Nevada residents approved a $198,000 issue of general obligation bonds to finance construction of a new city hall.

A $340,000 school bond issue of five proposals was endorsed 1,868 to 601 in a special election at Carthage. The funds will be used to alleviate over crowded schools; purchase four new school buses, and to establish a school lunch program.

Columbia voters gave overwhelming approval to city and school bond issues total $2,654,000 but they didn't build up enough of a margin for a $150,000 county lake bond issue to overcome heavy rural opposition.

A $650,000 school bond issue had the biggest margin, 4,656 to 66, with a $100,000 fire station bond issue leading the city vote with a 406-768 count, but all of the other issues, including arterial streets, a street improvement project, park improvements, library improvements, traffic signal expansion and a revenue bond issue for off street parking received more than the necessary two-thirds.

Changes Her Address For Any Inquiries About Aid to Husband

Mrs. Loretta E. Williams, Sedalia, who is seeking a sponsor for her Canadian husband so that he may enter the United States, reports that she would rather have any inquiries be mailed to her at General Delivery, Sedalia Post Office, rather than at her residence, as she requested earlier in a story that appeared in yesterday's Democrat-Capital.

May Wind Up a Court Case--

Case of Mystery Buffalo Is Partly Solved, But Division of Meat Is Causing Argument

The case of the mystery buffalo has been partially solved. The animal has been claimed by Lem Thomas of Tipton, who has tried to start a herd on his farm, the old Dr. A. W. Nelson farm on Highway 5, north of Syracuse. The animal killed by L. J. "Mutt" Castle of Ottaville and Porter Cole, farmer west of Ottaville, last Monday morning, has been dressed and is in the Pettis County locker "cooling out."

Thomas couldn't identify the bison while it was being dressed in the backyard of Castle's home last Monday afternoon, according to Castle. But Thomas said he knew it was his because one of his four bison cows was missing from his farm.

Conservation Agent Jack Hickey, Smithton, who ordered the animal killed if apprehended after an attack on the truck of John Ehlers Sunday night, because he considered the animal dangerous to human lives and property, has ordered the animal divided between the consolidated schools of Ottaville and Smithton.

It appears as if a court battle may be in the making over who will get the buffalo meat, the two schools or Thomas. Thomas has claimed the buffalo meat; the schools are supposed to get it, according to the order of Agent

Tension Over Ike Is Eased

'Get Well' Messages
Continue to Pour
Into Hospital Room;
Recovery Is Steady

Bulletin

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower's physicians today ordered the oxygen tent removed from his room, although it will be returned when he goes to sleep tonight. A late morning report said Eisenhower's condition "continues to be satisfactory without complications."

DENVER (AP)—Tension over President Eisenhower's illness eased a bit more today—and hopes brightened a bit for his recovery before any crisis arises over delegation of presidential powers.

A continuing succession of hospital bulletins reporting satisfactory progress "without complications" cheered administration officials and the President too.

"Get well" messages continued to pour into Fitzsimons Army Hospital from all over the world—one of the latest from Eisenhower's old friend and World War II comrade-in-arms Soviet Marshal Georgi Zhukov.

"Having been on vacation far from Moscow," Russia's defense minister cabled last night. "I have just now learned of your illness and received this news with the deepest feelings of sorrow."

"With all our hearts, my family and I wish you a speedy recovery and long life."

Eisenhower and Zhukov met for the first time in nearly 10 years at the Geneva Big Four conference last July.

Both Atty. Gen. Brownell in Washington and White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty here now say it may not be necessary to delegate any of the President's powers.

Peron May Receive Safe Conduct Pass To Enter Paraguay

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Authoritative sources said Juan D. Peron, still stuck on a Paraguayan gunboat in the river Plate, probably would receive his long-awaited safe conduct to exile today.

The deposed dictator took refuge on the gunboat Paraguay nine days ago. Provisional President Eduardo Lonardi, who led the revolt that ended Peron's 10-year sway as Argentina's strong man, announced after the revolt he would be accorded the traditional Latin-American right of political asylum.

Lonardi backed this up by telling newsmen last night Peron was free to begin exile in Paraguay at any time.

But the piece of paper granting him safe conduct up the Parana and Paraguay rivers to Asuncion, the Paraguayan capital, was still not forthcoming immediately. Lonardi, replying to questions sent to him by newsmen, said only: "The moment of the departure of Gen. Peron is a problem that concerns the Paraguayan government."

REA Supports Faster Rural Telephone Plan

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Rural Electric Co-operative Assn. has urged Congress in a resolution to accelerate the rural telephone program because "more than half of the farm people in America still don't have telephone service."

Delegates at the REA's regional meeting also condemned yesterday what they called a "false accusation" by Under Secretary of Interior Clarence A. Davis that farmers in its electrification program are "socialists."

The resolution cited a speech by Davis Sept. 5 at Eugene, Ore., in which he reportedly said "those that insist on federal power development and oppose the partnership plan of the Department of Interior are socialists."

They also asked Congress to reject the Hoover report on water resources and power that recommended REA be merged with private enterprise, saying its adoption would be "utterly destructive of rural electric and telephone programs."

H. C. Knappenberger, Blytheville, Ark., was an elected executive committeeman.

Father Regains His Children in Tearful Reunion in Court

DENVER (AP)—A father won back his two small children in an emotional, tear-filled scene today in Denver District Court from the mother who spirited them away from Missouri a month ago because "I just couldn't leave them."

Judge Joseph E. Cook ruled that the father, Jim. W. Vanderhoof, 34, of Springfield, Mo., was entitled to custody of the children by action of the Missouri courts and that the Denver courts could not change it.

The attractive mother, Mrs. Ruth V. Smalley, 26, of Denver, kissed her 3-year-old daughter, Susan Jane, and her 6-year-old son, Stephen Jim, and then they were separated in the court.

Vanderhoof then scooped up the children and dashed for Union Station to catch a train to Springfield.

Mrs. Smalley, who was remarried after the couple was divorced last year, claimed her former husband promised she could have the children if she found them a good home and could support them.

Mrs. Smalley disappeared with the children while visiting with them in Missouri Aug. 27.

Deplores Lack Of Facilities For Retarded

ST. LOUIS (AP)—B. E. Ragland, director of the State Division of Mental Diseases, says state institutions are overcrowded and it would cost 10 million dollars to provide facilities for about 1,000 mentally retarded children now on waiting lists.

Testifying at the child abandonment trial of Benjamin S. Russell, Ragland said yesterday he feels there is a need for a larger program for such children.

Charges against Russell were dropped when Jasper R. Vettori, associate prosecuting attorney, declared he had become sympathetic with Russell as the trial progressed and he would be "another Judas Iscariot" if he asked the court to decide Russell's innocence or guilt.

Russell, a 4-year-old Heracleum, Mo., odd-jobs man, said he let his 6-year-old mentally retarded son, Robert, be taken by police on a downtown street as he watched from a car because he couldn't find a public agency able to care for the boy.

Mrs. Mae Burford, public health nurse in charge of the Washington County health unit at Potosi, said Russell began seeking institutional care for Robert when he was a year old.

She said she had to tell Russell repeatedly "there was no institution available for a child of that age unless you have enough money to pay for it."

State Rep. A. Clifford Jones, St. Louis County Republican, said the waiting lists would total about 6,100 if all who needed care actually applied.

Vettori told Judge Louis Comerford, who heard the case without a jury in the Court of Criminal Correction, that at first he knew only that the child was abandoned and thus would "offer no apologies for the prosecution of this case."

"But we had a deep sense of sympathy for this man and his problem," he said, "as the case developed."

'Janet' Nearing Mexico

Killer Hurricane's
Winds Roar at 100
Miles an Hour; Due
To Hit on Thursday

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Janet rammed into British Honduras early today.

The hurricane, the 10th of the season, slammed ashore with 115-mile-an-hour winds.

It was moving about 23 m.p.h. when it hit British Honduras. The newspaper Diaria de Yucatan said the storm earlier hit Quintana Roo, the easternmost strip of Mexico, a lonely stretch of coastline.

Between the two strikes, Janet had picked up a little speed; she was moving about 21 m.p.h. when she first lashed at Quintana Roo.

Only a few reports were available from the area, the Weather Bureau at Miami said. The latest advisory last night estimated the storm's highest winds at 135 m.p.h. The Weather Bureau's advisory at 5 a.m. said the highest winds were about 115 m.p.h.

Winds of hurricane force swelled out 60 to 70 miles from the center and gales whipped across land and sea 225 miles to the north and 100 miles to the south.

Janet buffeted the Yucatan Peninsula after completing a destructive course through the Caribbean Sea.

Her course was expected to be somewhat erratic as she swept further inland but there was a good chance, the Weather Bureau said, that any strength she might lose in her journey overland would be regained when she reaches the open waters of the Bay of Campeche.

The worst was yet to come, the Weather Bureau warned.

The hurricane already had claimed about 200 lives in the Caribbean. Perhaps 100 U. S. Navy men and two Canadians were among them. They were aboard a hurricane hunter plane that flew into the storm Monday morning and has been missing ever since. Janet swept over little Swan Island in the western Caribbean yesterday morning and no word has come from the 35 persons stationed there.

Woman Hands Stolen Infant To a Priest

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP)—A grief-stricken woman who kidnapped a baby because she deceived her husband with a story of motherhood surrendered 11-day-old Robert Marcus to a Roman Catholic priest today.

Officers said she confessed stealing the baby from the nursery of a San Francisco hospital nine days ago.

Police Chief Jack O'Keefe said Mrs. Betty Benedicto, 27, of Stockton delivered the baby to the Rev. Allen McCoy at St. Mary's parish after telephoning Dr. Sanford Marcus, the infant's father in San Francisco, and instructing him to meet her there.

The baby is in excellent condition and police said there is no question he is Robert Marcus.

Dr. Marcus, 34, grinning for the first time since his son was stolen, said "We feel in our hearts he is ours. We are 99 per cent certain. But we will await footprint checks and blood tests."

Marcus and his grief-stricken wife, Hanna, 29, who has been in a state of near collapse since the kidnapping, made the 80-mile trip to Stockton in a San Francisco police car in 75 minutes.

Mrs. Benedicto, sobbing and near hysteria when taken to the Stockton police station, was booked on a technical holding charge. Chief O'Keefe said he understood San Francisco authorities would charge her with kidnapping.

Dr. Marcus, in appeals to the kidnaper for safe delivery of Robert, had promised he would not prosecute. Asked about that today, he said:

"I think the woman is a psychologically disturbed person."

Takes a Change In Police Beat Philosophically

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP)—Deputy Police Chief William V. McLaughlin, transferred from an eight-hour day job to a 12-hour cruising night shift, is taking the change philosophically.

McLaughlin, 60, who has been feuding with Public Safety Director Lawrence Whipple and refused to buy a ticket to a $100-a-plate Democratic dinner, said yesterday:

"I've done everything around here except sweep the floors and I'm prepared to do that."

At police headquarters, he joked with newsmen and said he would "work 12 hours, sleep 6 hours—my God, I'd be able to watch the opening game of today's World Series, and have enough time to eat and get back to work."

In an unpublished order Saturday night, reportedly initiated by Whipple and signed by Acting Police Chief Michael Cusack, McLaughlin was ordered to work from 8 p.m. to 8 a.m., in full-dress uniform, and must regularly sign the blotter of the city's six precincts.

Whipple was not available for comment on the matter and Cusack was out of the city attending a convention.

McLaughlin was a backer of former Mayor Frank Hague. His new hours go into effect Oct. 1, the day of the $100-a-plate dinner for which he refused to buy a ticket.

Baseball Sage Declines Try For Top Prize

NEW YORK (AP) — Grandma Myrtle Power, the baseball sage from the Southland, has taken her $32,000 and retired from big league play on TV after a perfect five-week season.

Urged by her children and a host of well-wishers not to take the risk, she passed up a chance at the grand prize on The $64,000 Question CBS giveaway show.

The 70-year-old widow says her winnings, estimated at $21,000 after income taxes, will be "put in a sock" and saved.

Announcing her decision to quit on the program last night, she said it seemed "the sensible thing to do."

Mrs. Power, a baseball fan for 60 years and a Brooklyn Dodger rooter, said: "My Dodgers have won lots of pennants and I feel like I won a pennant, and they never won a World Series and I don't want to beat them to the draw."

Among those who urged her not to try for the $64,000 by facing another question in her chosen baseball category was Jack Dempsey. Mrs. Power said the former heavyweight boxing champion talked with her at his restaurant this week and "almost got down on his knees to ask me to stop on account of the taxes."

If she had tried for the $64,000, she would have gotten only $12,000 or $13,000 more after taxes.

Says Report By VA Chief Backs Charge

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) said today testimony by Veterans Administrator H. V. Higley supported Democratic charges that a "numbers racket" was being played with the government's employe security program.

Johnston is chairman of a Senate Civil Service subcommittee investigating the Eisenhower administration's controversial security program, put into effect in May 1953.

Higley told the subcommittee yesterday, before it recessed its hearings until today, that the "great majority" of 449 Veterans Administration employes listed as fired under the security program were "in the nonsecurity category." He said they would have been "fired anyway" for other reasons.

He said most of these dismissals came under regular civil service regulations which permit firings for incompetence and other causes, although the initial checks were run as part of the security program.

Referring to this, Johnston told newsmen, "You can call it padding or whatever you want," adding that it bore out the "numbers racket" charges leveled by Democrats and other critics of the program.

He said he intended to press all government departments and agencies for a breakdown of the reasons for all listed dismissals under the security program in order to bring out the complete picture.

Johnston said he was convinced that "practically all" federal employes who have been tagged as security risks could have been discharged under regular civil service procedures "without besmirching anyone's name."

Higley said he didn't have anything to do with compiling the lists of the security firings.

Subcommittee Counsel Paul Hadlick asked him if any of the dismissed VA employes were Communists. "Not to my knowledge, sir," he replied.

Lions Special Program Tuesday Called 'Boxing'

The Sedalia Lions Club program for Tuesday noon's meeting was "Boxing." The members of the club who attended the meeting adjourned to the Liberty Theatre where they "boxed" candy to be sold at their annual show Lions Fashions of '54.

Nearly 1,000 popcorn boxes had candies placed in them to be sold at the show like the old days of the minstrel shows when vendors would go through the show selling candies.

Guests at the meeting during the lunch hour were Chris Rau, a new member, guest of Harry A. Goldberg, and Wallace Wise, Wise Business Equipment Co., of A. W. Haller.

During the meeting the time was spent in discussing the coming production which is given each year to bolster the funds of the Lions for their children's program, blind and other activities.

John B. Ellison, president, presided over the meeting.

Mrs. Mildred Bowman Expresses Herself In Decorating and in Civic Activities

Mrs. Mildred Bowman, wife of Emory Bowman, leads a very colorful life, interior decorating, color planning—that is the thing Mildred does all day long. She knows exactly what paint and wallpaper can do to a home and she is always ready with good suggestions for making a home more beautiful.

Mildred didn't start out to be an interior decorator, or to sell wallpaper and paint. She married into that field.

She grew up in the sunflower state of Kansas in the town of Clafin, and after attending the State Teachers College at Emporia, Kan., she went back to her home town and taught school for three years. Then she married. While living in Hutchinson, Kan., she was co-treasure in Wiley's Department Store. When the Bowmans went to Wichita, Kan., she studied art and interior decorating and assisted her husband in teaching these subjects in an adult education program.

During World War II, while her husband was in the South Pacific for 3½ years, Mildred worked several places in Kansas City, Hartzfelds, Cities Service Oil Co., of- fices and finally found a type of work she really enjoyed to the utmost. It was selling fine china, silverware, linens, home accessories and decorating at Robert Keith's. That was the thing Mildred liked, making the home a place of real beauty.

It was in 1945 that Mildred and Emory went into the paint and wallpaper business in Sedalia. Mildred is still having fun thinking up ways to use wallpaper and paint to the best advantage, and often there are fabrics to match the wallpaper, too.

Since she has been in the Business and Professional Women's Club she has been active on committees and served one year on the legislative committee chairman, another year as historian and last year as chairman of the hospitality committee.

This year she is chairman of the public affairs committee. This is the outstanding meeting of the year and will be held Thursday, Oct. 6, at 6:45 p.m. at the Smith-Cotton High School cafeteria. Dr. Sylvia A. Sorkin, St. Louis, national chairman of education and vocations, will be the speaker and will have as her subject: "Take a Look at Yourself." Dr. Sorkin is a very entertaining speaker and Mildred is happy that she has been able to secure her for this meeting, to which local civic club members and BPWC members from surrounding towns have been invited.

In addition to her BPWC work, Mildred is treasurer of the Girl Scout Council and was for several years leader of the Brownie troop at Washington School. She is also a member of the Broadway Presbyterian Church and the Order of the Eastern Star, Chapter 57.

Reflecting the unusual ideas in decorating is the Bowman home, which is an apartment above their store. Here Mildred has carried out her own plans and woven them together with Emory's to make a place that is different and delightful. Friends love to visit the apartment because each time they find clever little touches they have missed before. Too, they have an opportunity to see again something that caught their eye on other visits. For instance the stairway leading to the apartment has the risers of the stairs papered with bright wallpaper and there are pictures on the walls leading up to the apartment. Wallpaper is used in many ways in the home, on the cornices, on the kitchen table where the red and white checked paper has been laquered, and in many other decorative ideas. On the walls hang lovely magazine racks made by Emory and holding the latest magazines. Pictures are used in attractive ways over the home, for picture framing is part of their business, too.

Mildred's home is full of hors—not real ones, of course, but her

Pettis GOP Has Special Meet Monday

The Pettis County Republicans met in special session at the Pacific Dining Room Monday evening at 7:30 p.m.

Hugh Jones, president of the club, conducted the business session.

The meeting opened with the invocation by Guy Peabody.

L. J. Harned gave a brief resume of the report made at the last meeting of the club by Perry Compton and then spoke on some of the accomplishments of the Eisenhower administration, noting how some of them are reflected in our personal living—as employment is at an all-time high for peace time. Harned also presented to the club the invitation for Pettis County Republicans to attend the dinner to be held in Kansas City Oct. 6, with Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, who is the former House majority leader, as speaker.

Mrs. J. F. Schumacher, chairman of the second region of the 11th District, announced plans for the next regular club meeting, which will be joint meeting with the other two counties, Carroll and Saline, of the second region, which will be held at the Smith-Cotton cafeteria on Monday, Oct. 10, at 7:30 p.m. She announced Jack Cunningham would present the entertainment for the social hour after the business with an evening of square dancing.

Mrs. Schumacher then called the attention of the club to the school Referendums 1 and 2 to be voted on Tuesday, Oct. 4, and the club went on record as endorsing both referendums.

Jones, then presented charts to the club showing the outline of committees and of the work to be undertaken by the club for the coming year.

The meeting adjourned for fellowship visiting.

Women at the Drawing Boards?—

Females of Nation Decry
Need for Improved Homes

BY VIVIAN BROWN

AP Newsfeatures Writer
This nation needs more women architects.

Or maybe the men in rebuttal would like to answer this question: Are women and children ignored when architects and builders (men) get together and plan a home?

Most women think they are.

Just because the planners give the ladies a washing machine and maybe even a dish washer, they think they've satisfied the distaff side.

But what about the growing family?

The ladies are getting fed up, or so it seems. One young home seeker had this to say:

"The trouble is the so-called low-cost home is not being built for families. Builders plan houses that are adequate for couples and maybe even bachelors in spite of all the ballyhoo. But women and children take a back seat."

The glamor of today's "budget" home is wearing off even before the house has settled. Mom doesn't mind doubling up the youngsters in bedrooms, and figuring out whether the dining "el" should become a nursery for the new baby. Bad enough, but she can manage. But when it comes to the mathematical equation of trying to stuff more things into a closet than the closet will hold, that's something else again.

What women want is... more space for clothes (or where would architects suggest putting 4 or 5 little snow suits, boots, hats, umbrellas, raincoats... A good eating area, not snack benches or a little corner in the kitchen or living room called a "dining area."

Equipment storage space (a place to put sleds, skates, toys, skis, wading pools and dad's fishing pole, gun archery equipment, croquette set in the model home's tid-bit cellar.)

... Space for travel equipment (today's family acquires coolers, sandwich boxes, thermoses, picnic baskets, car beds and car seats.)

... More room in the kitchen (this is the age of appliances and every kitchen is loaded with broilers, blenders, sandwich grilles, waffle machines. The model home kitchen utilizes every inch of space before these things are moved in.)

... A workshop area (to accommodate braces, bits, saws, wrenches and nails that otherwise must be stored in clothes closets.)

The builder suggests that a two-car garage offers plenty of storage space. (The only trouble is the extra-size garage will cost you another $1,000.) Or you can find a house with an expansion attic, which you'll need to fix up for the growing family as soon as you can dig up about $3,000.

One family manages to improve their storage situation by buying a smaller car and fitting the garage for storage. Peg board may be put up on the garage wall to hold tools, high shelves around the garage can hold gasoline cans, disinfectants, garden sprays. A glass block panel can improve the appearance of the garage, protecting the privacy of the interior but permitting light to come through.

If women want to be really happy, they'll need to design their very-own "low-cost" homes.

BPWC Vital To Community

Well-deserved praise often comes only on special occasions because busy Americans have forsaken the practice of saying nice things about one another as frequently as they should. This may have given impetus to creation of national weekly observances to overcome partially this deficiency in politeness and well-wishing toward our fellow men and women.

Among themselves, and inviting others to join with them, the Sedalia Business and Professional Women's Club is engaged this week in special activities observing National BPWC Week. These are social and devotional in the manner of pause for introspection after a season in which they have been purposefully engrossed in their individual businesses and community activities.

Then, finally, there will be a Public Affairs banquet which is the outstanding event of the year's activities when other Sedalia clubs and BPWC's from other Missouri towns will meet to hear a stimulating, informative speaker on practical business principles—Cylvia A. Sorkin, consultant, economist, author and lecturer.

Sedalia's BPWC is rather unique in its determination to develop outstanding leadership from among those chosen to guide the destiny of the local organization as well as contributing to leadership in the national organization. All of this has come from a deep-seated desire for accomplishment and educational advancement through its own well-planned programs, by participating in welfare work, by ready response to cooperate in civic projects. Capable women in all lines of business have joined together in BPWC demonstrating competent, talented, alert and eager helpfulness toward any undertaking that has for its purpose community welfare and development.

Sedalia is very proud of its Business and Professional Women's Club which was organized here in 1923 and has for its objects elevation of the standards of women in business and professions; strengthening by organization individual efforts for the welfare of humanity including combined action in matters of special interest.

The women of BPWC have been an ethical and vitalizing force in our community.

Paraphrasing Artemus Ward we might say:

"The female woman of BPWC is one of the greatest institooshuns of which Sedalia can boste."

Washington Merry-Go-Round—

Politicians Conceal FDR's and Ike's Health

By DREW PEARSON
WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower's heart attack, coming simultaneously with publication of Harry Truman's memoirs, points to two vital facts in the lives of our Presidents:

1. Politicians don't want the public to know the truth about any President's health.
2. Medical checks should be given every Presidential candidate in advance, and more specialized medical care should be given a President after he takes office.

It has long been known to intimates of the President and to newspapermen covering the White House that he had high blood pressure, just as it was known during the election campaign of 1944 to intimates of Franklin Roosevelt that the wear and tear of public office had made terrific inroads on his health.

But the politicians of both political parties have hushed up the real facts. Eisenhower himself is the only man who has been frank about it.

He has consistently and repeatedly told the politicians who wanted him to run again that they could not depend on one man. He has talked about the health erosion of public office. He has reminded them that if re-elected he would be the only President to reach the age of 70 while in office. He has come about as close as possible to telling that all was not well with him aside from making a blueprint.

He made a statement to me in 1952 that seemed to be flat and unequivocal, that he would serve one term only. And in various conversations he has never deviated from this general plan. But despite this, the politicians have refused to take his word, have issued misleading statements about the President's health.

First Warning
Approximately one year ago at a stag dinner attended by Vice President Nixon, Attorney General Brownell, Chairman Len Hall, and other close political advisers, Ike first made it quite clear that they should begin building up new GOP leaders. The only promise they could wheedle out of him at that time was that he wouldn't announce his decision until the spring of 1956.

Nevertheless, Nixon and Chairman Hall both left that dinner to make repeated statements that the President was certain to run again, even though he had indicated directly to the contrary. No later than three weeks ago in Denver, Hall told newsmen how the GOP planned to defeat Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon because he "had criticized Ike."

"Suppose Ike doesn't run?" a newsmen asked. "Then I commit suicide," replied the chairman of the Republican national committee who had previously heard from Ike's own lips that the Republican party should begin building other candidates.

On another occasion, the President not only told Sen. George Bender and other Ohio Republicans about the health erosion of the Presidency but he specifically ordered his press secretary to have his statement to Bender made known to the press.

Senator Bender, like Chairman Hall, did not want to drop these discouraging words to the press. So, as he left the White House, he made no comment about Ike's remarks on health. Whereupon he was put on the spot by the White House press secretary who asked him to repeat what the President had said.

FDR's Health Concealed
This finds a semi-parallel in the Truman Memoirs published last week in which he tells how, early in 1945, it was considered doubtful that Franklin Roosevelt could last much longer.

Yet in the summer of 1944 when Roosevelt was nominated while absent on a cruise to Alaska to regain his health, Democratic Chairman Bob Hannegan knew, as Hall knew about Ike, that FDR's health was not at all good. He also knew that it was a fraud on the American people to put his name on the ballot.

The real facts about Eisenhower's health have been known to intimates for some time — and published before his nomination by a few people. John Gunther, in an extremely friendly book, inspired in part to boost Ike for the nomination, touched briefly on his high blood pressure. May Summersby, in her book, "Eisenhower Was My Boss," tells how he had high blood pressure even during the war.

While the President's health, considering his age, has been reasonably good, his ruddy complexion is deceptive and he is not able to remain in the White House or at his desk for average periods of time. That is the reason for his golf, his weekends at Gettysburg, his trips to Augusta, and his occasional health problems which have been hushed up by those around him.

One of them, just before he was to leave Paris to begin his open and public bid for the Republican nomination, illustrates the importance of having specialists on hand to watch the President's health. This particular incident almost upset the nomination.

Ike was taken sick about 10 days before Gen. Matthew Ridgway was scheduled to relieve him as commander of SHAPE in Paris. To get Eisenhower back on his feet, Dr. Snyder administered antibiotics.

However, General Eisenhower seemed to get worse. He developed pink eye, ran such a high fever that he talked of moving troops and calling general staff meetings.

Meanwhile a group of high Republican politicians was in Paris waiting to see him. They were told he was meeting in top-secret NATO sessions dealing with the security of Europe.

The days passed, however, and the time came for him to greet Ridgway, say goodbye to the French. A public appearance became inescapable. Newspapermen asked that he hold a press conference. The French government asked if it could stage a farewell ceremony.

Finally an all-day session of Ike's closest advisers met to decide what should be done. It was attended by Gen. Al Gruenther, Gen. Anthony Drexel Biddle, Col. Pete Carroll, and Arthur Vandenberg, Jr., son of the late senator from Michigan. During the meeting young Vandenberg flatly demanded that Eisenhower show up at a press conference. Otherwise, threatened Vandenberg, he would cable Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge to have the general's name withdrawn from nomination.

In the end, a French specialist was called in. He diagnosed Eisenhower's condition as an overdose of antibiotics. Within 48 hours he was much better, though terribly weak — so weak that his aides didn't know until just before Gen. Ridgway arrived whether they could dress him for the occasion.

In the end, Ike got to the airport to see Ridgway, though wearing dark glasses. His car was driven into the privacy of a hangar immediately afterward to let Ike rest.

These are some of the things that have long been concealed from the public, just as the true state of Roosevelt's health was concealed during the fateful campaign of 1944. They are facts which point to the need of public health examination of all candidates for President, whether Republican or Democrat. Too many of them, including the late Senator Taft and the late Wendell Willkie, have been stricken.

Guest Editorial—

COLUMBIA MISSOURIAN: Almost Human Car! Reading about safety on the road and in the manufacture of new cars, we came across a little item about a car that set itself on fire, sounded its horn to warn the neighbors, started its own engine, and drove itself away from other cars parked near which might have caught fire, too.

We always felt that with just a little ingenuity cars would soon be smarter than many people behind the wheel.

With the new crop of safety gadgets coming out soon, we'll be looking for more cars like the little fellow above.

We foresee cars that will tell the driver to slow down and to take that foot off the pedal. A further innovation might be cars that automatically shut off their own ignition when they feel that drivers are reckless.

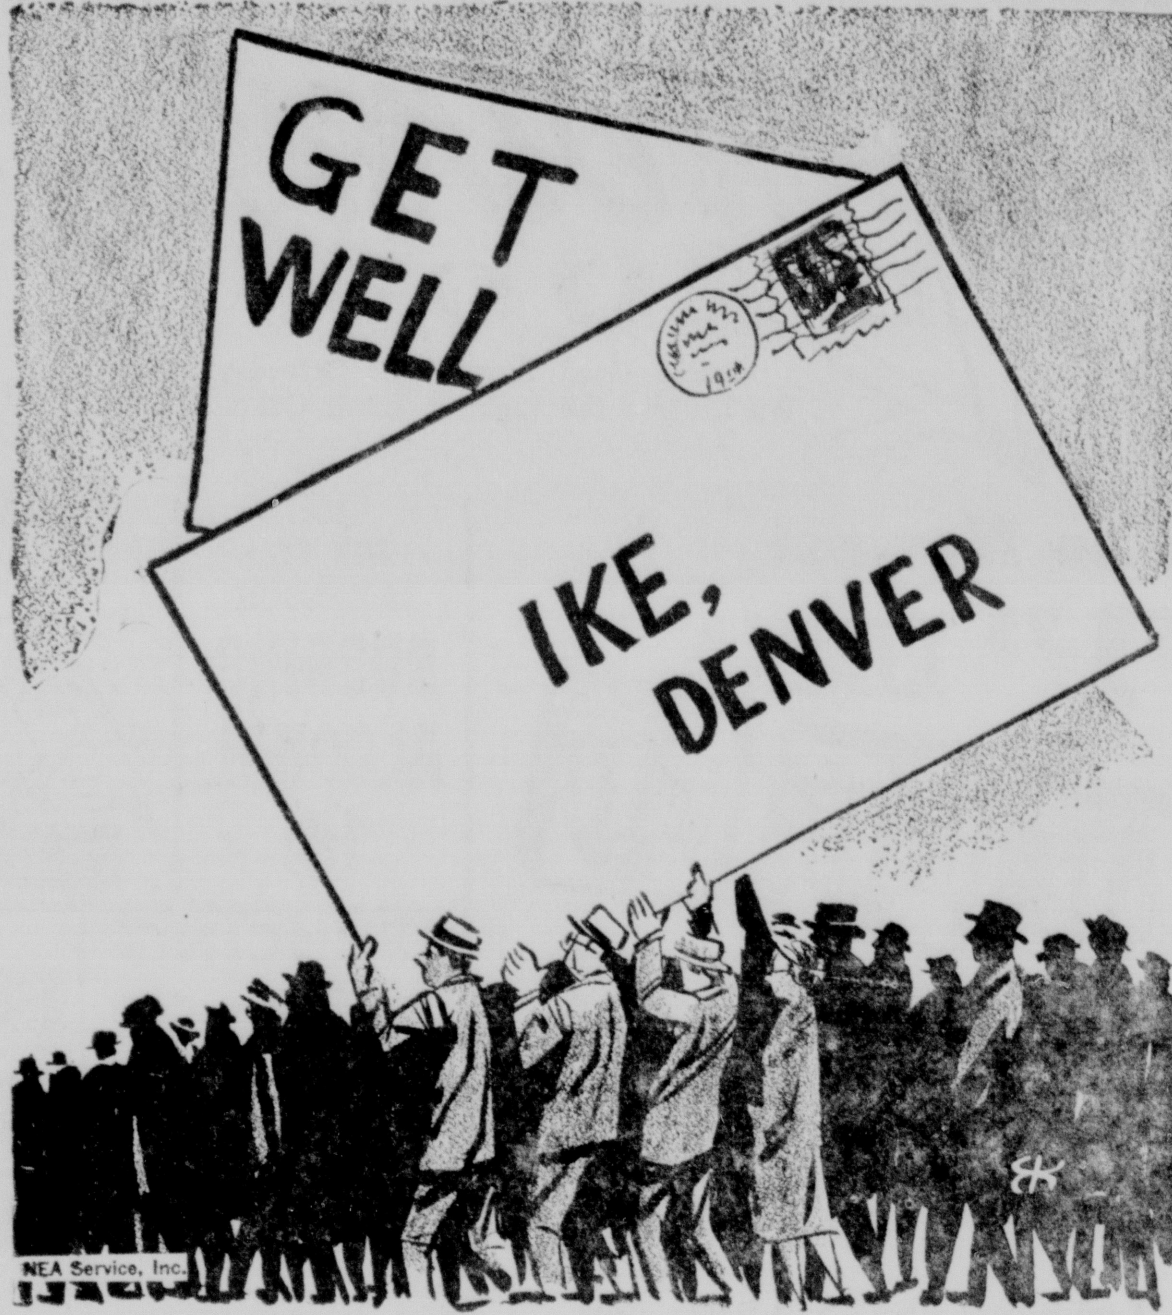

And, of course, the final step in sophistication will have been reached when the car tells the driver: "O.K. bud, move over, I'll drive."

In the meantime, though, our hats are off to the little car that was so safety-conscious.

The World Today—

Center of Power Remains in White House

By DON WHITEHEAD

WASHINGTON (AP)—The center of power in the Eisenhower administration remains firmly rooted in the White House today with no foreseeable likelihood that it will be shifted to Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

A White House source says there is "absolutely no reason" for any delegation of presidential powers to the vice president at this time because President Eisenhower is fully capable of making any major decisions necessary.

There has been a good deal of speculation here that Nixon very likely would take over a large part of the burden of the presidency until such time as Eisenhower is able to return to his desk. But this talk is now diminishing.

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty had announced in Denver that the attorney general's office would be asked to prepare an opinion on the legal problems involved and the extent and means by which presidential authority could be delegated temporarily.

The Constitution says the vice president takes over in case of the President's removal, death, resignation, or "inability to discharge the powers and duties of office." But it does not spell out the extent of the inability, say who shall determine it, or specifically provide for any temporary delegation.

Atty. Gen. Brownell said on arriving in New York yesterday from Spain that he would prepare an opinion on the powers of transfer, of authority as soon as possible. But a short time later in Washington, after staff discussions en route, he said there was "general agreement" no such action was necessary at this time.

The general change of attitude coincided with a rising optimism that Eisenhower is on the road to a quick recovery.

The sequence of events suggested to some political observers, however, that top administration people had quickly closed ranks against the idea of giving Nixon extraordinary powers which might enhance his chance to win the GOP presidential nomination in case Eisenhower doesn't run again. But one White House source dis-claimed any such intent, adding: "We've been so shocked by what has happened that we haven't even thought of sorting out the political implications that are involved. There has absolutely been no political discussion around here so far as I know."

"If something further should happen to the President—that would be another matter. The President's death would mean the vice president would take over."

"But as things now stand, the President is recovering. There is no reason to delegate his powers to anyone. Even now he is able to talk for a few minutes each day to visitors. His mental powers are not affected in any way. He still is able to make the decisions that are necessary—and as his recovery progresses, he will be increasingly able to give more time to his duties."

"All of us know our responsibilities and we'll carry on as usual. There is going to be no shifting of power—and there is going to be no 'power grab'."

As Sedalia Sees It— For Greater Competition In Airplane Construction

By Maurice G. Boehl
Of Our Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON — The Air Force is finally deciding it won't pay more for a plane it doesn't want than for one it does.

That was the burden, presumably, of a recent speech by Major General David H. Baker, Air Materiel Command Director of Procurement and Production.

To date, with a few exceptions, if a plane built for the Air Force proved unsatisfactory, the manufacturer was paid additional money to redesign it to meet specifications. If the plane was satisfactory, no changes were necessary and no additional government funds were spent. So an unacceptable plane construction job would net a contractor more money than an acceptable job.

The first steps toward enforcing performance and delivery standards have been taken within the last two years when AMC denied in certain instances a full profit for contractors who didn't deliver what they should have.

General Baker also said the AMC is attempting to create greater competition in plane construction and design. He intimated plane manufacturers in the future may have to graphically convince the Air Force they can produce a specified plane cheaper and better than their competitors. In other words, he served notice the Air Force will begin watching its dollars more closely.

"By adequate cost information we mean sufficient detailed data to convince us that the quoted price is fair and reasonable. In negotiations we will look carefully for indications that contractors are willing to accept normal business risk and fuller responsibility for products developed and produced."

"We will judge the reasonableness of the price by looking at past and anticipated performance in such areas as delivery, quality of product, control of cost, simplicity of design and maintainability," Baker said.

This, he said the Air Force feels, "will benefit the government as well as industry as a whole for it will require more realistic planning and estimating from individual contractors."

Patrol Frets At Soaring Speed Deaths

Traffic accidents in Missouri up to Sept. 22 of this year have caused the death of 695 persons according to the records of the Missouri State Highway Patrol. This is 33 more fatalities than the 662 recorded during the same period of 1954. All of this increase has occurred on the rural highways. Cities of more than 10,000 population have recorded a marked decrease in traffic deaths this year.

The number of vehicles registered and the number of gallons of gasoline used in Missouri are at a record high this year. In spite of the increase in fatalities, the number of deaths per one hundred million miles of motor vehicle travel in Missouri is well under the national average. The mileage death rate in Missouri for the first five months of this year was 4.8 compared with the national average of 5.7.

But Col. Hugh H. Waggoner, superintendent of the Highway Patrol is alarmed at the increase in rural traffic deaths during the past two months. "At the end of July of this year," said Col. Waggoner, "we had recorded 12 fewer traffic deaths than for the same period last year. Since Aug. 1, drivers have thrown caution to the winds and are killing and maiming at an unprecedented rate. Excessive speed is the factor most often found in our studies of fatal accidents. The majority of drivers know the tragic effect of speed but refuse to slow down because they have the mistaken belief that accidents happen only to other people. With the three most hazardous months of the year yet to come, we can expect the total number of traffic deaths to soar well over 1,000 before the end of the year, unless the speed on our rural highways is greatly reduced.

Odd Village Has One Resident Who Sleeps in a Dutch Oven

By HAL BOYLE
WESTPORT, Conn. (AP)—There are many unusual characters in this community of artists, writers and intellectuals.

But "Mr. Smerdley", the only one in the neighborhood who sleeps in a Dutch oven, is perhaps the most unusual.

In an area teeming with watch-dogs, Smerdley has the distinction of being the only "watchcat." He is a pet ocelot, a kind of tropical wildcat, owned by Arthur Kennedy the well known Broadway and Hollywood actor.

Kennedy bought the wildcat, which came from Peru, as a 5-week old kitten on the West Coast while completing a starring role in M-G-M's film, "Traitor." Ocelot raising has become some thing of a fad on the West Coast, where two clubs devoted to the breed have been organized.

The ocelot, a tree climbing cousin of the common cat, is known scientifically as fells pardalis, flourishes in Central and South America, once ranged as far north as Georgia. It is a beautifully spotted and barred animal of a tawny hue that, when full grown, is 3½ feet long and weighs 25 to 35 pounds.

These are ominous facts in the Kennedy household, for Smerdley at eight months is growing up fast on his daily diet of a pound of horse meat, two cans of baby food, and a spoonful each of vitamins, codliver oil and calcium.

Smerdley, who has developed a formidable armory of fang and claw, shows no interest in learning tricks and his main ambition in life seems to be to grow up a normal wildcat.

"We are enjoying a tentative relationship with him right now," said Kennedy, rubbing a deep scratch on the back of his hand. He and his wife are currently wondering if Smerdley wouldn't become more amicable on a diet of strained spinach instead of horse meat.

Smerdley, while resenting adult handling, is quite amicable to the two Kennedy children—Laurie, 10, and Terence, 12. He loves to attend weekly rock 'n roll jam sessions in the studio barn with the neighborhood children, sticks his head against the phonograph and drinks in the music—a real jive cat.

"He also is quite a television fan," said Kennedy. "He particularly is fond of watching sports, such as football games, and likes to stay up for the late, late movie. But he doesn't care for Westerns—too much shooting in them — and is indifferent to British pictures, which he seems to find too slow and talky. He growls when he wants the program changed."

His role as a watchcat hasn't been tested in action against a burglar. But the ocelot, who has radar-keen hearing, growls, hisses and spits at the approach of any stranger.

Smerdley, part of whose resentment against life may stem from the fact a veterinarian robbed him of his virility while he was a kitten, actively dislikes having his menacing claws trimmed.

"We trimmed them twice ourselves at home," said Kennedy. "Each time we had to quiet him with a couple of nembutal capsules."

The 14-year-old Persian cats in the household loftily disdain all friendly overtures by this strange rude country cousin. So does Chippy, a 12-year-old Cocker-sealy-ham terrier.

"Chippy is willing to play with him but he has a heart condition," explained Kennedy. "He can't stand the excitement."

Smerdley, who became house-broken in a few days, beds down in a Dutch oven in a fireplace in the old Kennedy colonial home, built originally in 1690. His potential skill as a burglar alarm is matched by his regal skill as a ratter.

"There hasn't been a rat in the area since the day after he came," Kennedy said.

"Whither Smerdley? A zoological expert told the actor no ocelot ever made a completely satisfactory pet. Ocelot lovers disagree with this emphatically."

"I adore him, but he is a problem," admitted Mrs. Kennedy, who

The coroner listed it as a suicide after receiving this report from sheriff's deputies:

Swift's wife Libby heard a shot and rushed into the bedroom to find her husband sprawled with a wound in the chest. A .38-caliber revolver lay nearby.

Two servants said they had found Swift with the gun while his wife was shopping, but had persuaded him to put it away. As they left and Mrs. Swift returned, the shot rang out.

bears a few scratch scars herself. "The only one he is cuddly with is Laurie."

"He isn't very attractive," agreed her husband. "But he is absolutely fascinating to watch. That's his only charm."

"We're going to keep him as long as we can. Every time I mention giving him to a zoo, our daughter simply cracks up."

Unconcerned about his fate, Smerdley just keeps on switching his tail, growling... and growling, growing, growing.

Envoys Study German Role In Security

NEW YORK (AP)—The riddle of German unification and the part Germany would play in any European security lineup occupied Western foreign ministers here today.

It was the East's first high-level review of West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's move — setting up Diplomatic relations early this month with the Soviet Union.

Heinrich von Brentano, West Germany's foreign minister who made the trip to Moscow with Adenauer, joined the Western Big Three foreign ministers to aid in mapping strategy for the Big Four foreign ministers meeting Oct. 27 in Geneva.

The problem: Get Russia to agree at Geneva on German unification and a continuing membership in NATO in exchange for a security pact to curb Soviet fears of future German aggression and for some formula to ease Soviet armaments burdens.

Added problem: To get the Soviet Union to put down on paper just what their security fears are. They have never specified them.

The aim: Relieve tension in Europe and get a start on inspection, control and disarmament programs still being debated in the U.N. Disarmament subcommittee, which resumes sessions this afternoon.

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay held two three-power sessions yesterday, dealing with programs drafted in Washington last week by lower level counsellors of their countries and West Germany.

They came out of the meetings talking "complete harmony... agreement... very satisfactory."

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov was reported to have agreed last night with Dulles, Macmillan and Pinay on all procedural matters for the Geneva meeting.

PIN-WORMS
MAY BE A FAMILY AFFAIR
Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often tell-tale signs of Pin-Worms... ugly parasites that medical experts say infest one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.
To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it:
First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.
Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge... the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

Lane New Manager Of Cards

Harry Walker Ends Field Managership; Stanky May Take Minneapolis Post

NEW YORK (P)—Frank Lane is in as general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals and Harry Walker is out as field manager of the Redbirds.

Eddie Stanky, who Walker succeeded as St. Louis manager last May, may be back in baseball as manager of the Minneapolis Millers, farm club of the New York Giants in the American Assn.

These choice items were learned last night as the baseball folks gathered at World Series headquarters on the eve of the opening game at Yankee Stadium.

At least one proposed deal fell through. Paul Richards' plan to step down as manager of the Baltimore Orioles and name George Kell of the Chicago White Sox as his successor was vetoed by the Baltimore board of directors. The board insisted that Richards live up to his three-year contract calling for the dual role as field and general manager.

Lane, who resigned as White Sox general manager last week, already has conferred with Dick Meyer, executive vice president of the Cardinals. They were to meet again either today or tomorrow when the signing is to take place and an official announcement will be made. Lane's salary is to be $50,000 a year for three years with the understanding that he is to have a free hand in running the club.

The informant said that Lane already has a successor to Walker in mind but would not identify him other than to say that he is "class guy."

Stanky was offered the Minneapolis job during a conference with Giant officials. He's thinking it over.

They Meet This Saturday--

Colorado Has a Good Chance To End 2-Year Kansas Jinx

KANSAS CITY (P)—Colorado, which has never beaten Kansas two years in succession, has a good chance of accomplishing the job this Saturday in a Big Seven Conference football game at Boulder.

Kansas is expected to show considerable improvement over last year when Colorado ground out a 27-0 victory at Lawrence. However, the Jayhawks' physical improvement and newfound confidence in ending a 17-game losing streak still probably will not make them a match for the Buffaloes.

Colorado, which is figured to field its best all-around team in a number of years, will also have the advantage of playing on its own field.

During the 14 game series between the schools, Colorado has emerged with only four victories while Kansas won 8 times. Two games ended in ties.

The Buffs opened their season at home last week, beating Arizona 14-0 in a light rain.

Coach Dal Ward said it was a typical first game with lots of mistakes and fumbles but added that from an over-all standpoint, "I was well satisfied."

K. U.'s last victory over Colorado, a 27-21 decision in 1953, was also its last entry into the win column until it beat Washington State, 13-0, last Saturday.

Both clubs came out of Saturday's games in good shape. But Kansas lost one of its outstanding linemen yesterday when guard George Remsburg broke a calcium deposit in his right leg. He's expected to be sidelined about a month.

Meanwhile, all of the conference teams got down to serious work. Oklahoma held a defensive workout against Pittsburgh plays.

Nebraska received the news that guard Jim Murphy will be lost for the remainder of the season. Murphy broke his leg in yesterday's session. He was one of the Huskers' standouts in their 28-20 loss to Ohio State last week.

Coach Bus Mertes, hoping to put "teeth" into the Kansas State offense, moved 214-pound Bill Carrington, a junior halfback, into the fullback post. He brought Ralph Pfeifer, a 190-pound sophomore, over from the second string to fill Carrington's position. The Wildcats play Nebraska Saturday.

Missouri, hit hard by injuries in the backfield, is keeping its rough work to a minimum. Coach Don Faurot also said he had canceled a Tiger B team game with Arkansas State for Friday. He said there just aren't enough able bodied players to put a team on the field against Arkansas State Friday and then face Utah in Saturday's varsity game.

Iowa State continued heavy work outs on both offense and defense in preparing for Saturday's game with Illinois.

Fullmer Solid Favorite Against Chicago's Boyd

CHICAGO (P)—Gene Fullmer, a 23-year-old from West Jordan, Utah, was a solid favorite to knock off Chicago's Bobby Boyd in a 10-round bout of middleweights at the stadium tonight.

Boyd, 20, is a 2 1/2-1 underdog and goes into the nationally televised battle (ABC, 8 p.m.CST) with 34 victories, 6 losses and 2 draws. Twenty of his triumphs were by knockouts.

Fullmer has lost only one of 33 fights and has scored 19 knockouts.

To Resign as Director

BERKELEY, Calif., (P)—Brutus Hamilton is resigning as athletic director for the University of California campus at Berkeley as soon as his successor is picked.

Hamilton, 55, submitted his resignation as director yesterday to the executive committee of the Associated Students of the University of California, but said he would remain as track coach, a position he has held since 1932.

The ASUC, surprised by Hamilton's move, has not named a replacement.

Hamilton, who was coach of the U. S. track and field entry in the 1952 Olympic Games, said that the press of handling both university jobs was too great.

Hamilton, named by Walter Camp to a second All-American football team while a University of Missouri student, was a member of the 1920 and 1924 Olympic teams and a coach at Kansas University before coming to Berkeley.

Moore to Fight Turpin

LONDON (P)—Archie Moore, whose bid for the heavyweight title was thwarted last week by champion Rocky Marciano, agreed today to defend his world light heavyweight title against Randy Turpin in London on Jan. 10, 1956.

Promoter Jack Solomons, who made the announcement, said he arranged the bout in transatlantic telephone negotiations with Charlie Johnston, Moore's manager.

Guard Repents Leaving Game Before Finish

BOULDER, Colo., (P)—Some 28,000 fans at Folsom Field last Saturday probably didn't notice the 205-pound University of Colorado guard during the brief time he was in the Colorado-Arizona game.

Neither did his coaches or fellow players notice when Joe Connors, tired of bench-riding in the second half, walked to the dressing room, changed clothes and disappeared.

For the first time since, the 23-year-old Pittston, Pa., second stringer showed up for practice yesterday and told Assistant Coach Ray Jenkins: "I made a mistake."

Connors' disappearance first was noted when head Coach Dal Ward called on him to re-enter the Arizona game during the third quarter.

After the game, coaches found Connors' uniform in its locker but no other trace of him.

The 6-foot, 2-inch sophomore told Jenkins yesterday he merely had returned to his campus apartment where he and his new bride have lived since last Friday. University officials did not know Connors' new address and had been unable to locate him.

"I made a mistake Saturday," said the former Marine, who played in 1950 with William & Mary.

"I was unhappy about not playing more than I did and foolishly left the field. After I got home in Boulder I realized my mistake, and found I did not want to quit the team."

"It was entirely my mistake, and I want to forget about it and be a good football player."

Jenkins said he told the young player that, in his view, "you've not done anything particularly drastic and the squad needs you."

EMPORIA, Kan., (P)—Evansville (Ind) College, with two lopsided victories, hogs total offensive honors in small college football according to initial reports received by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA).

Harve Romans Leads Valley In Rushing

ST. LOUIS (P)—A speedy little Oklahoma A&M halfback who was not even in the first string lineup when fall football practice started now leads the Missouri Valley in rushing on a per-game basis.

He is Harvey Romans, 5-foot 10-inch 165-pounder who carried for 110 yards against Arkansas in the Aggie opener. Al Backus of rejuvenated Tulsa has more yards—136—but has played two games.

Romans outdistanced teammate Earl Lunsford, the Valley's No. 1 man in rushing two straight seasons. Lunsford gained 60 yards as the Aggies outrushed the Southwest Conference champions, but lost 21-0.

To make the lineup Romans beat out Joel Favara, the team's No. 2 man in rushing last year as a sophomore.

Ranking 3-4-5 among Valley ball carriers are Wayne Hill 103 yards and Dick Scholtz, 101, both of Tulsa, and Wichita fullback Leroy Hinman with 81. All have played two games. Then come a Houston trio — Owen Mulholland (80), Curley Johnson (61) and Ken Stegall (60)—and Lunsford, all in one game.

Stegall carried on just one rushing play and scored. He also tops the Valley in punt returns with 75 yards and in scoring, 15 points.

Wichita quarterback Jack Conway still leads the passers with 137 yards, followed by Dick Phillips (113) and Charles Wynes (74), both of Tulsa. Three one-gamers, Don Flynn of Houston, Tom Pontius, Oklahoma A&M and Tom Tramski, Detroit, are in the running. The top three played two games.

Adult Western Series Begins In 'Frontier'

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP) — The western galloped a good day's ride forward on television this week with the appearance of Worthington C. Miner's "Frontier" on NBC-TV.

The first of this adult Western series ran ahead of this department's second favorite, "The Life and Legend of Wyatt Earp" (ABC-TV), and left the CBS-TV entry in the big networks' western sweepstakes—"Gunsmoke"—wrapped in the smoke of its own gun.

When Miner, executive producer of "Frontier," announced the series, he said it would be concerned with "real stories of average people who went west."

The premiere program made a bow to the tastes of viewers who apparently are convinced the story of the west is the story of gunplay. It told the story of a 23-year-old Colorado fellow who was built into a feared gunman, "The Colfax Kid," through imaginary stor-

US, Britain Propose Limit on Arms Sale To Egypt, Near East

NEW YORK (AP) — The Soviet Union kept silent today toward an American-British request that the Communists help in limiting the sale of heavy arms to Egypt and the Middle East.

U.S. Secretary of State Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan broached the issue to Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov at dinner here last night following Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser's announcement that Red Czechoslovakia had agreed to swap Czech arms for Egyptian rice and cotton.

Dulles and Macmillan repeated to Molotov their desire, expressed in a statement earlier yesterday, "to avoid an arms race which would inevitably increase the tensions" in the Middle East. In their statement they added the hope that other governments would be guided by the same aim.

Humphrey Would Take Vice-President's Post

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) says he would consider it a signal honor to be nominated as the vice presidential candidate of the Democratic party. He also told the Trojan Democratic Club at the University of Southern California that Adlai Stevenson was the leading candidate for the party's presidential nomination.

Stopped by a Tackle

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — In football fashion, State Police Detective Charles Southworth prevented a Southern Michigan Prison inmate from escaping from the Jackson County courtroom yesterday.

Edwin P. Robinson, 29, serving 15-25 years for armed robbery, was hit with a flying tackle when he made a break for freedom just after he had been sentenced to an additional five to six years for attempted escape.

Some TV Splits Are Repaired, But Not All

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — What happens when a comedy team goes sour?

In the case of Martin and Lewis, it turned out all right. They reconciled before millions of TV viewers, embracing each other and singing a sentimental "Side by Side." Chances are they'll be better than ever. They exhibited a warmth toward each other that had been lacking in recent years.

Another TV team broke up with a big scene, but their differences could not be resolved. They were Joan Caulfield and Barry Nelson. Both are going their separate way.

Two years ago, Joan and Barry were chosen to play in the TV version of "My Favorite Husband." The show was proclaimed a hit from the start. The clever writing and bright acting by the stars combined to best "Your Show of Shows" in audience ratings. This helped hasten the breakup of another team—Sid Caesar and Imogene Coca.

But things went wrong on "My Favorite Husband" last season. "I guess the same thing has happened with every team except Amos 'n' Andy," Joan explained. "In 'My Favorite Husband,' the comedy arose because of the girl. Barry thought more of the show should be directed at him. He pointed.

"To keep him happy, they aimed a show at him. Then I'd be just as miserable as he was. Finally one day we had our blowup and of course the story of the fight spread through CBS like wildfire."

The show was further dampened by an interview in which Nelson said he was fed up and had handed in his notice.

But here's the switch: Nelson is back doing the show and Joan isn't.

She's active in films again, now appearing in her husband's film, "The Rains of Ranchipur." And she's up for a TV spectacular in her favorite role, "Voice of the Turtle."

"And Barry should be happy," she added. "Now it's 'The Barry Nelson Show' — with Vanessa Brown."

Strongman in Movie

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Mike Lane, big former circus strongman, has been signed to costar with Humphrey Bogart as the heavyweight champ in the movie "The Harder They Fall."

Based on the Budd Schulberg novel, Lane's part is reminiscent of the buildup and fall of Primo Carnera. The novel took a critical view of racketeering in the fight game.

The 24-year-old Lane wears a size 18 shoe, a size 20 shirt and a 58 suit. He stands 6 feet 10 inches and weighs 275. Discovered after an extensive search, he has no acting experience.

Dog Is Too Smart

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich. (AP) — Herman Burgess' beagle pup is a bright one.

Burgess, a city heating engineer, left the hound in the back seat of his car while he went to inspect a heating job.

When he came back the pup was in the front seat, had turned on the radio and was listening quietly. Burgess beamed at the dog's intelligence until he tried to get in the car. The dog had pushed down both inside door buttons, locking Burgess out.

Fliers Saved From Sharks Tell Story

HONOLULU (AP)—Two fliers snatched from the jaws of attacking sharks in a dramatic Pacific rescue arrive today aboard the rescue ship Steel Advocate for a joyous reunion with their wives. The two are the only survivors of a Flying Tiger line cargo plane that ditched at sea Friday night while carrying military supplies to Wake Island. Three of the five-man crew perished, one from shark bites.

One of the survivors, copilot Robert C. Hightower of Vallejo, Calif., was bitten on the foot as he was pulled from the water.

He and his companion, Capt. Anthony Machado of Hollywood, Calif., the pilot, told of their ordeal yesterday in a radio-telephone interview with The Associated Press. Machado said he survived for 40 hours without a life jacket.

"I kept going by hanging on to one of the guys, then the other," Machado said. "The battle with the sharks began almost immediately after the big four-motor plane went down, carrying navigator Dominick Ventresca of Sepulveda, Calif., who was pinned inside the wreckage."

Another navigator, Richard C. Olsen, died from shark bites only a few hours before his two companions were picked up by the freighter Sunday. Hightower said he was bitten 15 to 20 times and Machado said he bore the marks of several brushes with sharks.

"We lost count of the sharks but there were hundreds," Machado said. "We tried to keep watch but we fell asleep. The only way we kept from getting bitten worse was that they nudged us first before taking a bite. That way we woke up and scared them off."

Machado said copilot Warren F. Gin of Los Angeles died from swallowing salt water.

"He didn't want us to touch him," Machado said. "He slipped off his life jacket and went under. I dove down and got him once and we held him up until almost daylight. He died and I took his life jacket. That was about 40 hours after we went down."

Discovers Oil Painting

CHICAGO (AP)—A Chicago interior decorator says he will not sell his newly discovered Da Vinci oil painting of Madonna and child, but adds that "sooner or later I will donate it to an American museum."

"I will keep it and enjoy it awhile," said Hanns R. Teichert of his $450 purchase now valued at more than one million dollars. Teichert said he had not decided what museum he would give the painting.

Hoover Group Returns $83,000 Unspent to US

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Hoover Commission, whose keynote was economy in government, went out of existence today on a consistent note. It returned $83,000 in unspent funds to the Treasury.

During its two-year life, the Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government, headed by former President Herbert Hoover, received $2,848,534 from Congress to finance its search for ways to streamline federal operations and cut expenditures.

The commission actually halted its work by law last June 30, but it was given another 90 days for liquidation chores. That time was up today.

In its final formal statement the commission said it made 314 recommendations, with 145 of these

Husband Well Satisfied

DETROIT (AP)—"Was my husband ever pleased when I piled up the family car," Mrs. Dolores Haburne told a Traffic Court judge when charged with interfering with traffic.

"How is that?" asked the bewildered judge.

"First he was pleased because I wasn't hurt," said Mrs. Haburne. "Second, he was pleased because . . . well, you see, he's a car salesman and sold the man I hit a new car on the spot."

Chicago Man Is Found In Car Trunk

CHICAGO (AP)—Police hunted today for the slayer of Michael de Stefano, 47-year-old ex-convict who police say may have been implicated in passing Greenlease ransom money.

De Stefano was found shot to death yesterday in the trunk of his expensive automobile a few blocks from his west side home. He had been shot five times.

Police estimated he had been dead 12 to 15 hours when his body was found after an anonymous caller told police to go to the scene. The absence of blood in the car trunk, police said, indicated De Stefano had been shot elsewhere, then stuffed in the car trunk.

De Stefano was an associate of Dominick Christiano, 37, also a former convict who was slain in gang style on U. S. 66 on Sept. 18. Christiano, 37, was shot six times by assassins who etched a dollar sign with bullets in the victim's back.

Chicago police said both men had been under investigation by the FBI in connection with the Greenlease ransom money. The FBI declined comment.

About 50 of the bills from the ransom sum have turned up in the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago.

Police said De Stefano was a member of the notorious old west side 42 gang some 25 years ago. In 1934 he and his brother, Frank, were sentenced to prison terms of 14 to 40 years for robbing a bank at Mauston, Wis. He served more than 10 years and in 1944 was turned over to Illinois authorities to serve a sentence at Joliet penitentiary for setting fire to a police squad car. He was released in 1947.

De Stefano, the father of three small children, had been employed as a laborer in the city bureau of electricity since 1949.

Will Build Highway Interchange at HST Library, Independence

INDEPENDENCE (AP)—The Missouri State Highway Commission plans to spend $575,000 for a highway interchange at the entrance to the Harry S. Truman library here.

The commission began condemnation proceedings yesterday in the Jackson County Circuit Court to acquire two pieces of property needed for the project. The state already has acquired 12 pieces of property by direct negotiation.

DAILY RECORD

Police Reports

Mrs. Dorothy Pozenel, 2040 East Seventh, reported to the police that last Sunday night her home was entered and thieves stole 12 quarts of vegetables and some antique coins. The money was kept in a trunk in her bedroom.

The robbery was not discovered until Tuesday.

A door to the compressor room at the locker room at Weathers Kort was found open by the police. It was locked by the officers.

A window to the garage of the Conoco Service Station, Main and Missouri, was found open by police at 11:50 p.m. Tuesday. The owner was notified.

The east door to the Central Coal Co. office was found open by police at 1:37 a.m. Wednesday. The owner was notified.

Two youths who were noted at Third and Ohio at 3:30 a.m. Wednesday were picked up by the police and taken to police headquarters, where they were questioned regarding keeping late hours and loitering around town. After the parents of the boys were notified, police were informed that one boy was in bed when his parents retired and they did not know he was out.

Boys loafing around the streets after midnight will be picked up and questioned by the police and either detained at headquarters until daylight or released to their parents if they'll come after them.

The Sedalia police have been requested to try and locate the whereabouts of Charles F. Reynard or David Reynard or members of their families who possibly reside in or around the Sedalia area. The information is being sought by C. F. Reynard, 1315 Sullivan St., Canton, Pa., who was a visitor in Sedalia in 1925.

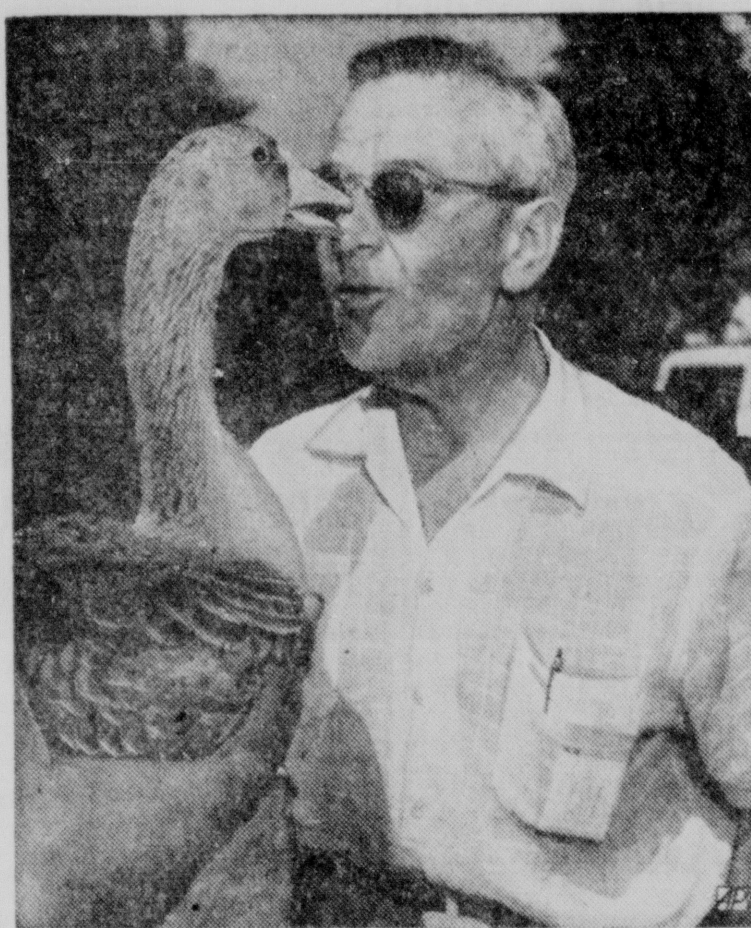

Reynard contacted Harold Garrett, 711 South New York, here in Sedalia, recently for information regarding the Reynard families and he has now contacted the local police to see if they could learn any information of them.

Police Court

Frederick C. Mertel, 311 West Tenth, charged with improper parking, forfeited a $2 cash bond.

Twenty-four overtime parkers who failed to appear in police court forfeited their cash bonds of $1 each and 43 overtime parkers who received tickets reported to police headquarters within 30 minutes and paid the 25-cent fee.

Will Break Ground For New Farm Bureau Building in November

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—The Missouri Farm Bureau Federation plans to break ground in November for a new $700,000 office building on Highway 50 at the western edge of Jefferson City.

The Farm Bureau announced today the three-story structure of brick, stone and glass will have 35,000 square feet of space and a parking lot for 250 cars.

Unemployed Juror

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—District Judge John B. McManus has ruled that a juror is not a county employee within the meaning of the Workmen's compensation act.

He refused a claim by Louis Burnham Seward who had a broken vertebra after a chair fell from under him while he was serving as a member of the county petit jury.

Urges Trade With Russia To Cut Surplus

CHICAGO (AP)—The livestock committee of the American Farm Bureau Federation urged today that the United States trade with Iron Curtain countries in an effort to relieve farm surpluses.

The group recommended that the United States exhibit samples of its food surpluses, with emphasis on pork and lard, at the Soviet Union Fair in Moscow next year. They also urged more aggressive efforts to sell Russia some surplus pork products.

The group, composed of farm leaders from many of the 48 states, made these other recommendations for dealing with food surpluses: Wider use of roast pork in hot school lunches.

That farmers be urged to grow a meat type hog to be sold at lighter weight.

John C. Lynn, the federation's legislative director, said the recent hike in import duties on bicycles reduced the prospect for selling more farm surpluses in England, France and Italy.

The committee urged the Agriculture Department to promote food surpluses at foreign agricultural fairs next year.

Rain Covers Wide Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Skies were clear in most of the Midwest and the Western states today but rain fell in wide areas in the northeastern quarter of the country and parts of the South.

The showers which hit the mid-continent moved eastward to the upper Ohio Valley and the Middle and North Atlantic states. Falls ranged from light to more than 1 inch.

Scattered showers also were reported in the lower Mississippi Valley, Oklahoma, and along the coasts of Texas, Georgia and Florida. Nearly 3 inches of rain was reported at Okmulgee, Okla.

The weather was warmer in the rain and cloudy areas in the Middle and North Atlantic states with early morning readings in the 50s and 60s. Temperatures were in the 70s in the Gulf states, decreasing northward to the 40s and 50s through the central and northern Plains and in the Midwest.

The average American spends 31 cents a year for matches.

Man Is Said Ready To Give Himself Up

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Russell Gilbert Cofer, 31, Oklahoma City, convicted "bicycle bootlegger," was reported ready to surrender today to the U. S. marshal here on a charge of shooting a federal alcohol tax unit agent near Joplin, Mo.

Cofer has been sought since Saturday, when ATU Agent Glenn Starrett was wounded following a 90-mile-an-hour automobile chase. The car's two occupants, pursued by officers, escaped on foot.
